

Driving the Digital Transformation of the Global Money Services Industry

4xlabs.co

About 4xLabs

4xLabs is a fintech that is driving the digital transformation of the money services industry to bring about greater financial inclusion for the underbanked globally. We were established in 2011, and have built a global network of connected currency exchanges, money transfer operators, financial technology firms, financial institutions and professional services by pioneering innovative industry solutions.

Currently, we have customers in more than 30 countries and a growing global community of several hundred thousand users. Our team is international, with our global headquarters in Singapore, a technical hub in Vietnam, and a network of sales professionals around the region.

Contact us at hello@4xlabs.co to discuss business or partnership proposals
Visit 4xlabs.co if you are interested to learn more about our company and products

Also Available on

A Fintech Platform for Improving Efficiency & Compliance

Biz4x is an enterprise-level platform that helps businesses be efficient, stay compliant and remain relevant in an increasingly competitive global landscape with greater regulatory scrutiny. The modular and extensible system provides access to core operational services such as business management, wholesale trading, digital storefronts, live market data and compliance. These services are also available through APIs.

In addition to the core modules, value-added services enable connectivity to new networks, provide key big data business insights and deepen customer engagement. Our industry digitalization initiatives enables money services businesses to scale beyond physical retail outlets and cash-based transactions by accepting digital payments across multiple platforms, be it web or mobile, through an eWallet.

biz4x.com

Discovering the Best Money Transfer Rates Globally

Send4x is a price discovery platform that allows users to source for and discover the best money transfer providers by comparing factors such as costs, speed and method of sending or receiving. It was developed to make money transfer more affordable for all by fostering greater price transparency in the remittance industry.

Through Send4x, users will have greater flexibility and choice when it comes to money transfer while providers will gain more business through referrals from the platform.

send4x.com

Also Available on

Discovering the Best Cash Exchange Rates Globally

Get4x is a price discovery platform that connects travellers with currency exchanges so they can source for the best cash exchange rates in cities around the world. It was the first such platform of its kind when it was launched in 2012 and has a global community of several hundred thousand registered users.

With Get4x, travellers can search, compare and book a preferred amount and rate, before collecting the currencies at their convenience later. Currency exchanges in turn, benefit from better business visibility and a steady stream of revenue when they post their cash exchange rates online and receive booking requests.

get4x.com

#10-01 UIC Building, 5 Shenton Way, Singapore 068808
+65 3159 3368 | hello@4xlabs.co | 4xlabs.co

4xLabs

@4xLabs

4xLabs

